2H 2026 Outlook: Base, Bull and Bear Cases

In mid-June we revised our year-end '26 base case target to 8100 from a prior 7700. This acknowledged the exceptional earnings growth that unfolded during the first half of the year, which was driven primarily by the AI infrastructure cohort. Our base case index earnings estimate is now $365 for '26 and $400 for '27, materially higher than the $320 estimate we entered the year with. However, we have not increased our bull case target of 8300. The implication is that we expect downside risks to increase relative to upside reward as 2H unfolds. In turn, our target multiple is lower than previous, an acknowledgement that the AI play is middle innings, if not later.

Broader Participation Thus Far in '26

- Market cap weighted, the Mag 8 returned ~+25% in '25 while the Rest of Index returned ~14%
- Broader participation is evident YTD with the “other 492” gaining +15.9% thus far in '26 while the Mag 8 are +11.2%

2Q Results Support Positive Fundamental Case for '26

- 2Q reporting season delivered an abnormally high positive surprise, building on the trends from the 1Q reporting period
- CY '26 estimates are tracking well ahead of seasonal patterns, reminiscent of an early cycle revision pattern
- Asterisk here is that mega cap asset writeups in 1Q & 2Q drove a large share of the positive surprise, with tariff refunds playing a role and higher oil prices flowing through as an earnings windfall for the Energy sector

S&P 500 Quarterly Bottom-Up Consensus EPS

Sales and Earnings Progression

- Since mid-'25 a persistent sales beat has provided a tailwind to equities
- The earnings progression has followed, with acceleration over the past two quarters. We remind that an “asterisk” is warranted

Cluster Fundamental Dispersion

- IG Cluster fundamental dispersion highlights the two-year period of “earnings nothingness” in ‘22/’23
- Cyclical and Defensives pulled out of an earnings recession in ‘24, building on this through ‘25
- More contribution from these groups in ‘26 as they return to HSD-MDD growth should bolster index level earnings growth

IG Cluster Contribution to Index EPS Growth (Consensus)

Broadening Via A Cluster & Size Lens

- After a 23% return for the Growth cluster in '25, the group is +15.6% YTD, outperforming the index
- Cyclical & Defensives have underperformed Mega Cap Growth this year, returning +12% and +8.8% respectively
- Small and Midcap indices have fared better YTD, up +21.1% and +15.2% respectively thus far in '26

S&P 500 Industry Group Cluster Performance

S&P 500, Equal Weight, Mid & Small Cap Performance

AI's Subtle S&P 500 Impacts

- Return dispersion has notably picked up this year, yet index level vol has remain subdued
- Interestingly, the average stock beta to the index is declining, as the weight of high beta stocks in the index climbs
- All told, the index is subtly becoming riskier under the surface

Average Stock Beta is Falling Relative to the Index

S&P 500 Index Weight in High Beta Stocks is Growing

IG Cluster Valuations

- Multiples on trailing earnings are stretched relative to history for Cyclical & Defensive, less so for the Growth IG cluster
- Mag 8 forward multiples are near the low end of the last 10yr range, less expensive than the broader index considering the growth trajectory

S&P 500 Industry Group Cluster TTM P/E

Mag 8 vs. Rest of Index P/E NTM

Mag 8 Valuations & Fundamental Circumstance

- The Mag 8 forward earnings growth expectations hover near 20yr highs
- Out year growth trajectory is holding steady near the top decile for the Other 492
- PEG ratios have fallen materially for the Mag 8 as well as the broader index as growth persistence is questioned

Mag 8 vs. Rest of Index PEG Ratio

Size & Style – Case For Small Cap

- We have argued for a barbell positioning consisting of LC Growth (via NDX) and SC Value.
- Earnings growth rebound and easier valuation set the stage.
- But there is also an “anti AI” element to this.

Oil and the '22 Case Study – Supply Shock Returns

- The '22 Russia-Ukraine event serves as a decent proxy for the current Iran conflict as a function of oil supply concerns.
- 2H performance dispersion is notable and needs to be factored into the current playbook.

Industry Group Relative Performance vs S&P 500, 1H '22 and 2H '22

Earnings Growth Broadening & Convergence

- Mag 8 earnings growth pushing to new highs north of 57% Y/Y through '26E
- The Other 492 emerged from an earnings recession in '24, posted +8% growth in '25, rising to +23% in '26
- The setup is for marginal earnings growth broadening with 8/11 sectors now modeled for DD EPS growth this year

Earnings Attribution: Sector Build Up Is Critical

- Market-cap weights need to be compared to EPS weights to fully appreciate valuation implications of index price action
- Tech stands out for underearning its weight whereas Financials and Energy contribute significantly to the index
- Five sectors delivered LSD or worse EPS growth in '25, broader contribution in '26 helps accelerate index level growth

Valuations & Implicit Growth Expectations

- In our view, traditional valuation measures fail to fully account for the forces currently at work in the US Equity markets
- Hefty earnings growth, an accommodative Fed, and goldilocks macro backdrop are necessary to hold top end of range
- Market-implied growth has settled below consensus growth expectations

Changing Index Composition Favors Growth

- The earnings composition of the S&P 500 index has changed significantly over recent decades

Eye on Fed and the Consumer

Fed, Rates, and Consumer Resilience

- The consumer has been resilient through the Fed tightening cycle and now out the other side.
- Fiscal stimulus helped de-lever household balance sheets, while a large portion of debt was termed at low fixed rates
- 70% of household debt is via mortgages, where the rate lock dynamic has weakened Fed policy transmission

Household Debt Composition

Effective & Contract Mortgage Rates

Consumer Dispersion

- Distribution of income and debt has perpetuated a tale of two consumers: net savers vs net spenders
- Higher income worker displacement is an area of risk as companies pursue AI efficiency gains
- This cohort has an outsized impact on aggregate consumption

Operational Efficiencies (and Leverage) Are Key

- Ongoing productivity gains are crucial to our constructive equity market view
- S&P 500 companies have managed costs by holding headcount steady alongside top line growth
- Yet, there is a point at which stagnant labor market conditions feed back negatively to index fundamentals
- Range of outcomes ahead is wide between AI adoption improving index margins and displaced worker demand destruction

Productivity Gains Without Demand Destruction

- From our perch, index data aligns with broader macro signals that we are in a low hiring and job separation environment
- The percentage of S&P 500 companies increasing employee count is near 30yr lows outside of recession periods
- Yet the percentage of index names cutting headcount is largely in line with longer term averages
- Slower pace of entry level hiring may be driving up youth unemployment yet this may be stabilizing

Pct of Index Names Increasing/Decreasing Employee Count

Unemployment Rate by Age

Cluster Lens – Labor Market Connections

- The correlation between earnings growth and the unemployment rate is highest for the Cyclical cluster
- The connection weakens in the Growth cluster, and more so with Defensives
- Importantly, the earnings weight of the Cyclical cluster within the S&P 500 has diminished through time

S&P 500 Industry Group Cluster EPS Growth vs. 1Y Change in the Unemployment Rate

Relative Macro Sensitivity Down Cap

- Small cap stands out for its earnings growth leverage to key macro inputs
- Interestingly, Equal Weight S&P 500 has a larger weight Defensives, muting the macro sensitivity relative to SMID
- Looking at relative return betas, Small cap is well positioned should the Fed pivot down a “run it hot” policy path

Earnings Growth Betas to Key Macros by Size

Relative Return Macro Betas by Size

Fundamental Connection to Rates

- SMID debt profile is inherently shorter maturity with more reliance on floating rate loan debt
- This led to a swift pass-through of higher rates to interest expense from '22-'24, a significant headwind for SMID earnings
- Leverage to the front end of the curve has flipped to a relative tailwind for SMID vs LC as the Fed began cutting in late '24

Macro Matters

Citi House View: Economic Forecasts

- Citi economists expect the Fed to be on pause until Jun '27, followed by easing with three 25bps cuts in Jun, Sep, & Dec '27
- Expectation is for core inflation to decelerate late '26 through early '27 taking pressure off the Fed
- GDP growth holds steady in the back half of '26 and into '27

ANALYST CERTIFICATION

The research analysts primarily responsible for the preparation and content of this research report are either (i) designated by “AC” in the author block or (ii) listed in bold alongside content which is attributable to that analyst. If multiple AC analysts are designated in the author block, each analyst is certifying with respect to the entire research report other than (a) content attributable to another AC certifying analyst listed in bold alongside the content and (b) views expressed solely with respect to a specific issuer which are attributable to another AC certifying analyst identified in the price charts or rating history tables for that issuer shown below. Each of these analysts certify, with respect to the sections of the report for which they are responsible: (1) that the views expressed therein accurately reflect their personal views about each issuer and security referenced and were prepared in an independent manner, including with respect to Citigroup Global Markets Inc. and its affiliates; and (2) no part of the research analyst's compensation was, is, or will be, directly or indirectly, related to the specific recommendations or views expressed by that research analyst in this report.

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES

Analysts' compensation is determined by Citi Research management and Citigroup's senior management and is based upon activities and services intended to benefit the investor clients of Citigroup Global Markets Inc. and its affiliates (the “Firm”). Compensation is not linked to specific transactions or recommendations. Like all Firm employees, analysts receive compensation that is impacted by overall Firm profitability which includes investment banking, sales and trading, and principal trading revenues. One factor in equity research analyst compensation is arranging corporate access events between institutional clients and the management teams of covered companies. Typically, company management is more likely to participate when the analyst has a positive view of the company.

For financial instruments recommended in the Product in which the Firm is not a market maker, the Firm is a liquidity provider in such financial instruments (and any underlying instruments) and may act as principal in connection with transactions in such instruments. The Firm is a regular issuer of traded financial instruments linked to securities that may have been recommended in the Product. The Firm regularly trades in the securities of the issuer(s) discussed in the Product. The Firm may engage in securities transactions in a manner inconsistent with the Product and, with respect to securities covered by the Product, will buy or sell from customers on a principal basis.

Unless stated otherwise neither the Research Analyst nor any member of their team has viewed the material operations of the Companies for which an investment view has been provided within the past 12 months.

Guide to Citi Research Fundamental Research Investment Ratings:

Citi Research stock recommendations include an investment rating and an optional risk rating to highlight high risk stocks.

Risk rating takes into account both price volatility and fundamental criteria. Stocks will either have no risk rating or a High risk rating assigned.

Investment Ratings: Citi Research investment ratings are Buy, Neutral and Sell. Our ratings are a function of analyst expectations of expected total return ("ETR") and risk. ETR is the sum of the forecast price appreciation (or depreciation) plus the dividend yield for a stock within the next 12 months. The target price is based on a 12 month time horizon. The Investment rating definitions are: Buy (1) ETR of 15% or more or 25% or more for High risk stocks; and Sell (3) for negative ETR. Any covered stock not assigned a Buy or a Sell is a Neutral (2). For stocks rated Neutral (2), if an analyst believes that there are insufficient valuation drivers and/or investment catalysts to derive a positive or negative investment view, they may elect with the approval of Citi Research management not to assign a target price and, thus, not derive an ETR. Citi Research may suspend its rating and target price and assign "Rating Suspended" status for regulatory and/or internal policy reasons. Citi Research may also suspend its rating and target price and assign "Under Review" status for other exceptional circumstances (e.g. lack of information critical to the analyst's thesis, trading suspension) affecting the company and/or trading in the company's securities. In both such situations, the rating and target price will show as "—" and "—" respectively in the rating history price chart. Prior to 11 April 2022 Citi Research assigned "Under Review" status to both situations and prior to 11 Nov 2020 only in exceptional circumstances. As soon as practically possible, the analyst will publish a note re-establishing a rating and investment thesis. Investment ratings are determined by the ranges described above at the time of initiation of coverage, a change in investment and/or risk rating, or a change in target price (subject to limited management discretion). At times, the expected total returns may fall outside of these ranges because of market price movements and/or other short-term volatility or trading patterns. Such interim deviations will be permitted but will become subject to review by Research Management. Your decision to buy or sell a security should be based upon your personal investment objectives and should be made only after evaluating the stock's expected performance and risk.

Catalyst Watch/Short Term Views ("STV") Ratings Disclosure:

Catalyst Watch and STV Upside/Downside calls: Citi Research may also include a Catalyst Watch or STV Upside or Downside call to indicate the analyst expects the share price to rise (fall) in absolute terms over a specified period of 30 or 90 days in reaction to one or more specific near-term catalysts or events impacting the company or the market. A Catalyst Watch will be published when Analyst confidence is high that an impact to share price will occur; it will be a STV when confidence level is moderate. A Catalyst Watch or STV Upside/Downside call will automatically expire at the end of the specified 30/90 day period. The Catalyst Watch will also be automatically removed if share price performance (calculated at market close) exceeds 15% against the direction of the call (unless over-ridden by the analyst). The analyst may also remove a Catalyst Watch or STV call prior to the end of the specified period in a published research note. A Catalyst Watch/STV Upside or Downside call may be different from and does not affect a stock's fundamental equity rating, which reflects a longer-term total absolute return expectation. For purposes of FINRA ratings-distribution-disclosure rules, a Catalyst Watch/STV Upside call corresponds to a buy recommendation and a Catalyst Watch/STV Downside call corresponds to a sell recommendation. Any stock not assigned to a Catalyst Watch Upside, Catalyst Watch Downside, STV Upside, or STV Downside call is considered Catalyst Watch/STV No View. For purposes of FINRA ratings distribution-disclosure rules, we correspond Catalyst Watch/STV No View to Hold in our ratings distribution table for our Catalyst Watch/STV Upside/Downside rating system. However, we reiterate that we do not consider No View to be a recommendation. For all Catalyst Watch/STV Upside/Downside calls, risk exists that the catalyst(s) and associated share-price movement will not materialize as expected.

Citi Research broadly and simultaneously disseminates its research content to the Firm's institutional and retail clients via the Firm's proprietary electronic distribution platforms (e.g., Citi Velocity and various Global Wealth platforms). As a convenience, certain, but not all, research content may be distributed through third party aggregators. Clients may receive published research reports by email, on a discretionary basis, and only after such research content has been broadly disseminated. Certain research is made available only to institutional investors to satisfy regulatory requirements. The level and types of services provided by Citi Research analysts to clients may vary depending on various factors such as the client's individual preferences as to the frequency and manner of receiving communications from analysts, the client's risk profile and investment focus and perspective (e.g. market-wide, sector specific, long term, short-term etc.), the size and scope of the overall client relationship with the Firm and legal and regulatory constraints.

Pursuant to Comissão de Valores Mobiliários Resolução 20 and ASIC Regulatory Guide 264, Citi is required to disclose whether a Citi related company or business has a commercial relationship with the subject company. Considering that Citi operates multiple businesses in more than 100 countries around the world, it is likely that Citi has a commercial relationship with the subject company.

Securities recommended, offered, or sold by the Firm: (i) are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; (ii) are not deposits or other obligations of any insured depository institution (including Citibank); and (iii) are subject to investment risks, including the possible loss of the principal amount invested. The Product is for informational purposes only and is not intended as an offer or solicitation for the purchase or sale of a security. Any decision to purchase securities mentioned in the Product must take into account existing public information on such security or any registered prospectus. Although information has been obtained from and is based upon sources that the Firm believes to be reliable, we do not guarantee its accuracy and it may be incomplete and condensed. Note, however, that the Firm has taken all reasonable steps to determine the accuracy and completeness of the disclosures made in the Important Disclosures section of the Product. The Firm's research department has received assistance from the subject company(ies) referred to in this Product including, but not limited to, discussions with management of the subject company(ies). Firm policy prohibits research analysts from sending draft research to subject companies. However, it should be presumed that the author of the Product has had discussions with the subject company to ensure factual accuracy prior to publication. Statements and views concerning ESG (environmental, social, governance) factors are typically based upon public statements made by the affected company or other public news, which the author may not have independently verified. ESG factors are one consideration that investors may choose to examine when making investment decisions. All opinions, projections and estimates constitute the judgment of the author as of the date of the Product and these, plus any other information contained in the Product, are subject to change without notice. Prices and availability of financial instruments also are subject to change without notice. Notwithstanding other departments within the Firm advising the companies discussed in this Product, information obtained in such role is not used in the preparation of the Product. Although Citi Research does not set a predetermined frequency for publication, if the Product is a fundamental equity or credit research report, it is the intention of Citi Research to provide research coverage of the covered issuers, including in response to news affecting the issuer. For non-fundamental research reports, Citi Research may not provide regular updates to the views, recommendations and facts included in the reports. Notwithstanding that Citi Research maintains coverage on, makes recommendations concerning or discusses issuers, Citi Research may be periodically restricted from referencing certain issuers due to legal or policy reasons. Where a component of a published trade idea is subject to a restriction, the trade idea will be removed from any list of open trade ideas included in the Product. Upon the lifting of the restriction, the trade idea will either be re-instated in the open trade ideas list if the analyst continues to support it or it will be officially closed. Citi Research may provide different research products and services to different classes of customers (for example, based upon long-term or short-term investment horizons) that may lead to differing conclusions or recommendations that could impact the price of a security contrary to the recommendations in the alternative research product, provided that each is consistent with the rating system for each respective product.

Investing in non-U.S. securities, including ADRs, may entail certain risks. The securities of non-U.S. issuers may not be registered with, nor be subject to the reporting requirements of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. There may be limited information available on foreign securities. Foreign companies are generally not subject to uniform audit and reporting standards, practices and requirements comparable to those in the U.S. Securities of some foreign companies may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than securities of comparable U.S. companies. In addition, exchange rate movements may have an adverse effect on the value of an investment in a foreign stock and its corresponding dividend payment for U.S. investors. Net dividends to ADR investors are estimated, using withholding tax rates conventions, deemed accurate, but investors are urged to consult their tax advisor for exact dividend computations. Investors who have received the Product from the Firm may be prohibited in certain states or other jurisdictions from purchasing securities mentioned in the Product from the Firm.
